

Ojai Creek Riparian Habitat Restoration Project:

A Vision for Ongoing Stewardship and Restoration of the Ojai Watershed presented by

Ojai Valley Green Coalition Watershed
Committee Chair & Biologist, Brian Holly

Wednesday, April 28, 7:00 pm

Chaparral Auditorium

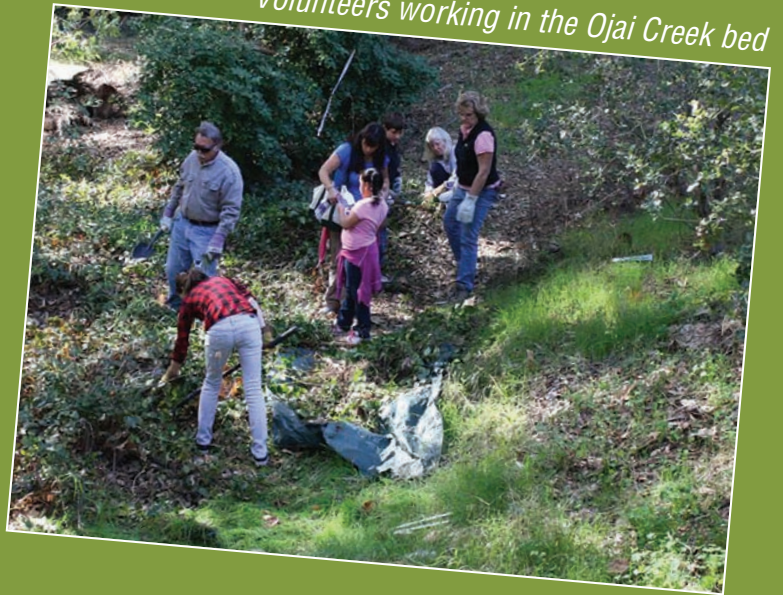

414 E. Ojai Avenue

$2 suggested donation for more information

www.OjaiValleyGreenCoalition.org

805.669.8445

Volunteers working in the Ojai Creek bed

Before: Ojai Creek was overrun with non-native plants such as vinca, Cape ivy and Himalayan blackberry. Additionally, Canary Island date palms were choking out the creek bed and spreading seeds downstream.

After: Non-natives have been removed and native riparian species such as willow, mulefat and California sycamore have been planted. The stream is flowing and more surface water is available with the eradication of invasive plants and trees.